

مؤشرات قياس الفقر وطرق مواجهته

Authors

فريد بختي, رضا بهياني

Publication date

2018

Journal

Namaa revue d'économie et de commerce

Issue

04

Pages

180-193

Description

The phenomenon of poverty is a primary indicator of the extent of the backwardness in societies, as they are considered an important issue you should target in the analysis and study of development, it has been the practice to address poverty in terms of a common economic and social phenomenon familiar in all societies and at all times, but to varying degrees, during the second half of the twentieth century the phenomenon of poverty and the poor global multi-dimensional issue, through its transition from one community to the world, in countries rich and poor and to identify measures or indicators of poverty Countries as well as individuals but taking into account the relative of another society. And the phenomenon of poverty and of low income among the broader issue is the question of the distribution of income, depending on the degree of equality in the distribution of income, depending on the degree of equality in the distribution of income and the extent of poverty is determined by its depth and the amount of contrast between the poor of poverty and poverty-related indicators.