

Résumé

This present study is a contribution to the research and to the highlighting of the impact of certain ecological parameters on biological behavioral of the Mediterranean fly of fruits Ceratitis capitata (Diptera; Trypetidae), devastating one formidable which worries the producers and the exporters of fruits of a big economic importance, where from orange trees.